As one of the major parts of the European Digital Treasures project, the Archival Literacy Online Course has been developed to assist teachers in introducing students of grade 9 and higher to the world of archives.

This course offers a sustainable and attractive tool linked to young user education on how to use archives, teaching students how to conduct research within the archival holdings, through traditional lectures and presentations at schools and integrate the possibilities offered by archives, mostly in Humanities, specifically in areas like history, arts and geography.

On Thursday, May 6, 2021 at 06:00 PM CEST / 05:00 PM WEST, IST, the European Digital Treasures project partners will hold a Zoom webinar introducing the Archival Literacy Course. We cordially invite you to participate!

Agenda

The webinar will present the Archival Literacy Online Course from three different perspectives. Each presentation will be approximately 15 minutes and will be followed by 5-10 minutes for questions & answers.

- Memory and Education: The role of archives in the construction of the European identity
Emília Lagido, History teacher at Escola Básica e Secundária de Vila Nova de Cerveira, Portugal, and Teresa Gomes, History teacher at Escola Secundária de Mem Martins, Portugal
- Archival literacy – Inspiring learners through documentary heritage
Marica Camilleri, History and English teacher at St Elias College, Malta
- The benefits of an easily accessible and extensible online learning platform
Dr Gearoid O’Suilleabhain, Technology Enhanced Learning (TEL) Department at Munster Technological University, Ireland
- Concluding session
